SURGERY IN PARTIAL VACUUM

DR. SAUERBRUCH OPERATES AT ROCKEFELLER INSTITUTE.

Came From Marburg to Demonstrate His Method of Exploring the Chest Without Collapse of the Lungs-Dog Lived After Part of a Lung Had Been Removed.

An experiment which cost a dog's life was performed at the Rockefeller Institute last Monday. Among its results may be the saving of many human lives in this country. By reason of the civil war and the number of men therein wounded the United States gave to the world many opportunities in the advancement of surgery, but nowadays America is again going to Europe for many of the newest developments in the science, and it was from Europe that the men came who operated at the Rockefeller institute. The operation on the dog, which was for the purpose of demonstrating the possibilities of a new method in surgery devised in Germany, was performed in the presence of a considerable group of physicians and surgeons of New York who were very much interested in the demonstration. They had read plenty about it in the medical literature of Germany but had not seen the method demonstrated.

Briefly, the purpose of the new method is to facilitate operations in the chest cavity. Everybody knows of the wonderfully intricate operations, as they seem to the lay mind, which are and have long been successfully performed in the abdominal Operations within the area of the chest, however, have been beyond the skill of the surgeons in large part for the reason that the opening of the chest cavity sufficiently for free operating work resulted in collapse of the lungs from the atmospheric pressure. The patient died for want of breath. For years the profession has studied how best to narcotize the human patient when it was desirable to operate on

Dr Ernst Sauerbruch, professor of surgery at Marburg University, Germany, devised a method to this end, and early last week he arrived in New York at the invitation of the American Medical Association to demonstrate his method at the Rockefeller Institute. He brought with him his assistant and a cagelike operating room built largely of glass, which is the essential vehicle of his operations. He remained in New York only a week and departed for Germany on Saturday. Among the professional men who witnessed his work at the Rockefeller Institute were Dr. Willy Meyer, Dr. S. J. Meltzer, Drs. Levene, Lamar, Jobling and Noguchy of the insti-tuje and two woman doctors attached to operating room or glass cage in which five feet square and not quite high enough for a six foot man to stand upright in. Dr. Meltzer in talking of the demonstration yesterday when the newspaper men asked him to tell them something about it mentioned the fact that negative pressure, as the doctors call it, is necessary for the function of breathing in men and other than the normal pressure of the atmosphere from which the lungs are normally protected by the walls of the chest. In studying the problem Dr. Sauerbruch evelved the idea of a glass enclosed operating chamber in which a partial vacuum could be maintained, but with sufficient air for the opera-

The normal atmospheric pressure being 760 millimetres, Dr. Sauerbruch found that a diminution of eight or ten millimetres was sufficient for his purposes; that with the air pressure reduced to that degree the lungs of animals could continue to the lings of animals could continue to function though unprotected by their natural shields. In his operating chamber the air is so reduced. The pressure is kept down by an exhaust pump which is constantly working, and a new supply of fresh air is admitted under control all the time, passing into the chamber through a "wash bottle" or filter. The operators and the body of the patient or subject except the body of the patient or subject except the head are thus in a field of purified, diluted air. The head of the patient or subject protrudes through a hole in the chamber wall into the normal atmosphere, a rubber guard closing the aperture between the patient's neck and the perimetre of the wall opening. So the patient is breathing all the time the normal air and so is the assistant who administers the anæsthetic.

Under these conditions Dr. Sauerbruch found that the chest could be opened without a collapse of the lungs. The discovery therefore permits of operations in desperate cases on the lungs or, for example, in cancer of the #30phagus, which heretofore has been inaccessible to the surgeon because as seen inaccessible to the surgeon because as soon as the thorax was opened the lungs collapsed.

It is the hope of the profession that this method may in time make it as easy to operate within the chest as in the abdomen. Dr. Sauerbruch's invention opened the way for other experimenters along the same lines and one of his associates in Marburg, Prof. Brauer, has already put forth another method aiming at the same results by almost an exact reversal of the Sauerbruch method.

The Sauerbruch method is open to the obvious objection that it compels the operating surgeon and his assistants to work in an inconvenient small analysis. work in an inconveniently small enclosure and necessitates provision in advance within this limited space of every possible thing which might be required during the operation, no matter what unexpected developments there might be. Prof. Brauer therefore advocates a method whereby the head of the patient and of the assistant in charge of the anæsthetic alone should be within the chamber, which instead of being a chamber of rarefied air should be a chamber of intensified air for the patient to breathe, and so equalize lung pressure, leaving the operating surgeons pressure, leaving the operating surgeons free, as in the ordinary operating room. Dr. Sauerbruch and his assistant at the Rockefeller Institute gave their demonstration on a dog provided for the purpose. Dr. Sauerbruch announced in advance that after the operation he would kill the dog by obleroform effor showing that it could by chloroform, after showing that it could live within the chamber and live after the excision of a part of the lungs, and he did so, for owing to the presence of so many doctors who wanted to witness the demonstration and study it carefully the opera-

Another operation was performed on a dog, part of whose intestines was cut out and the ends of the remainder joined together by a silver coupling, which is described as a new invention to do away with the need of sewing up in such opera-

TO TRY TCHAYKOWSKY.

After Long Inquiry Russian Police Accuse the Agitator of High Treason.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. ST. PETERSBURG, June 21.-The result of a police investigation has induced the authorities to order that Nicholas Tchaykowsky, the noted revolutionary leader, who is a prisoner in the Fortress of St. Peter and St. Paul, e tried by a courtmartial on a charge of high treason.

Tchaykowsky's career as a terrorist dates back to 1870. George Kennan called him "the Father of the Russian Revolution." He came here in 1906 on a revolutionary mission and while here made a number of inflammatory utterances regarding the Czar and his government und conditions

Shortly after his return to Russia in December of last year he was arrested and shut up in the Petropovlovsk fortress. He has been there ever since despite sensa-tional movements here and abroad to induce the Government to free him. A nura-duce the Government to free him. A nura-ber of leading citizens of New York signed a petition in his behalf which Baron Rosen refused to forward. He is said to be in bad health. Russian agitators here have had no illusions as to the probability of his being ultimately tried for high tressen.

RECORD FLIGHT OF AEROPLANE. NO FIGHTS ON GUERIN DAY Glenn H. Curtiss in the "June Bug" Travels 1,266 Feet in $5 Seconds

HAMMONDSPORT, N. Y., June 21,—Glenn H. Curtiss, who holds the world's motorcycle record, to-day broke all American records for aeroplane flights at Stony Brook Farm, when he travelled 1,266 feet in 55 seconds in the Curtiss aeroplane "June Bug," the third aeroplane built by the Aerial Experiment Association, of which

Dr. Alexander Graham Bell is president. The record breaking flight was the third made to-day, being preceded by two preliminary flights. This achievement has made the association fully convinced that an effort should be made to capture the Scientific American prize, which is for the first flight of three kilometers. During the week flights will be made with the winning of this trophy as an object.

In the first flight made the June Bug travelled 200 feet at a rate of 20 miles an hour. Aviator Curtiss accidentally cut off his front control and the machine descended without injury to the mechanism. The second flight covered 417 feet and was The second flight covered 417 feet and was ended by the front control breaking, al-ended by the front control breaking, although no serious damage was done.

It was made at a rate of thirty-two and a half miles an hour. The damage was soon repaired and then the June Bug made its record breaking flight of 1,268 feet at a rate of thirty-four miles an hour and at a height of twenty-five feet. Aviator Curtiss made no attempt to go any higher, but said that he could have done so easily if he had felt that the risk was worth taking.

The policy of Dr. Bell is to have flights made at a low altitude until the operator is completely used to the control of the aeroplane. The tests were witnessed by a crowd of several thousand persons. All the members of the Aerial Experiment Association were present excepting F. W. Baldwin, who has just been married and is still on his honeymoon.

is still on his honeymoon.

Dr. Alexander Graham Bell is delighted at the successful flight to-day and Secretary Augustus Post is also enthusiastic over the June Bug and her designer and operator, Mr. Curtiss.

MIDSHIPMAN SHEA COMMENDED.

He Rescued Midshipman Sessions From Drowning in Chesapeake Bay.

WASHINGTON, June 21.-Midshipman Francis L. Shea of New York, a member of the first class at the United States Naval Academy, has been commended by Acting Secretary of the Navy Newberry for unusual bravery in rescuing from drowning in Chesapeake Bay Midshipman Frank R. Ses-sions of Michigan, a member of the fourth class.

Midshipman Sessions was swimming near Midshipman Sessions was swimming near the cruiser Chicago, which is one of the midshipmen's cruising squadron, when he was observed to be struggling in the water. A small boat was immediately sent to his aid, but before it reached him Midshipman Shea, who was about ten feet from Sessions, swam over to him and kept him affort until swam over to him and kept him afloat until the beat arrived. Shea's brave act was noticed by Lieut. John D. Walnwright of the Chicago, who recommended that Shea be commended by the Secretary of the Navy and that notice of his act be placed upon his official record. Shea was appointed from New York in 1905, but is a native of the District of Columbia.

BLIND SIX WEEKS, SEES AGAIN. A Case of Restored Sight Which Puzzles

the Bellevue Doctors. The surgeons at Bellevue Hospital are puzzled over a patient, James Cantillon, a professional baseball player, who recovered the sight of his right eve vesterday after having been blind for six weeks.

Six months ago he got a piece of steel in his left eye while playing with the Des Moines club in the West and the eye was removed by a specialist in the Presbyterian Hospital in Chicago. The right eye became affected several months later and six weeks ago Cantillon went blind.

ago Cantillon went blind.

Cantillon, who is 22 years old and lives in Marionette, Wis., became hysterical yesterday when he found he could see. The surgeons could not explain his recovery. Cantillon is a brother of Joe Cantillon, manager of the Washington Basehall Club, manager of the Washington Baseball Club.

MAN SLAIN, ASSAILANTS GONE.

A Razor, a Stiletto and a Dying Man Found in the Street.

Policeman John Connolly of the Macdougal street station was passing in front of 220 Varick street early yesterday morning when he heard a noise behind him and turning about saw a man stumble and fall to the sidewalk. Connolly raised the man, who fell back again dead. He had been stabbed three times, twice in the chest and once in the back.

Not far from the back.

Not far from the body Connolly found a razor and a little further away in the gutter was a stiletto. Both had been recently used. No other clue was found. At the police station the dead man was as Bruno Sabati, an umbrella maker with no home.

FOREST FIRES IN CAMPECHE. Town of Laguna del Carmen Is Threatened With Destruction.

MEXICO CITY, June 21 .- Forest fires have been raging in the State of Campeche for several days, destroying much valuable property. The town of Laguna del Carmen is threatened with destruction by the fire, which is sweeping toward it smiths and Bridgemen's Union, gave notice at yesterday's meeting of the Central Federated Union that the housesmiths will begin a political campaign against Comp-troller Metz on account of his refusal to yield to the demands of labor for the imme-diate construction of the proposed subways.

Labor Ready to War by Metz. William Green, delegate of the House-

Boy Falls From Switchback at North Beach. While riding with his parents and several other children on the Grand Pier Switchback at North Beach yesterday Leo Unterman, 8 years old, of 73 East 101st street.

Manhattan, fell off and sustained a had wound in his head and other injuries. It is said that he loosened his hold as the car was on the final plunge and was pitched out head first. He was taken to St. John's Hospital, Long Island City.

The Weather. The heat continued yesterday in the middle Atantic States, the New England States, the Ohio Valley and the Lake regions. It was due to the dominating influence of the high pressure area which was centred over the south Atlantic States, throwing off warmer southerly winds. It was also growing warmer throughout the centra States west of the Mississippi because of an area of low pressure forming in the Northwest which drew the warmer air northward. Cloudy and thunderstorm conditions prevailed over New England and there were scattered showers in the central States; elsewhere the weather southerly winds; average humidity, 50 per cent; barometer, corrected to read to sea level, at 8 A. The temperature yesterday, as recorded by the Highest temperature, 87.3°, at 3:30 P. M. WASHINGTON FORECAST FOR TO-DAY AND TO-MORRO W For eastern New York, the District of Columbia, eastern Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland, continued warm and generally fair to-day and to-morrow; light to fresh winds, mostly south-

For western New York, fair to-day and to-morrow; light to fresh winds, mostly southwesterly.

For western Pennsylvania and Ohio, fair, continued warm to-day and probably to-morrows light to fresh southwest to west winds.

LIVE TOPICS ABOUT TOWN.

BATTERY DAN'S SUBSIDIARIES one of his business cards to a stranger in HAVE AN OUTING.

They Break the Speens and Forks Beating Time With the Dinner Music, but Nary a Plate Is Smashed Until They Learn How to Use the Knife Handles.

The Michael G. Guerin Association had one of those regular times at College Point yesterday. But why drag in Mike Guerin? If you live around Washington Market you know who Mike is; if you don't, you will be content with hearing that the association is one of the subsidiaries of Battery Dan Finn's downtown political trust. Battery Dan is naturally the real excitement at these affairs of the Michael G. Guerin Association, even though his name doesn't appear conspicuously on the posters It is there, but tucked away among the honorable somethings or other. Yesterday's function began under a cloud. When everybody met everybody else in Dietrich and John Tongers's place at West and Vesey streets, there was one great big gap, and the General Putnam sailed without the Judge-the Judge, of course, being Dan Finn. It turned out that he was sitting in Essex Market court and couldn't get off until noon. But he turned up later by way of Long Island City so that was all right.

It took a good while to get out of the boat when the Point was reached because a member who did not wish his name used had most of the money in front of him and wanted to finish the game. When he got the rest and everything had been emptied, so it wouldn't spoil, the Eighth Regiment band led the way up the walk to Witzel's.

The first division was composed of Big Tom Foley. Then came Assemblyan Al Smith and Mike Guerin and Congressman Riordan and all those people, with delegations f om Hudson county; Andy Doyle's First ward Irish Guards and the William J. Gallagher Association. And followed the rank and file of the stalwart sons of the First ward who, when the fight is thickest, Absolutely nothing happened during breakfast-just eating and drinking and such things. But after breakfast two more boats, one bringing the Veronica Council and another the Knickerbocker Council of the K. of C. hove in sight. Honest. those K. of C. people were mostly girls, with just enough fellows along to try to keep the Michael G. Guerin Association from taking them all. The Knickerbooker from taking them all. The Knickerbocker Council are rank outsiders—they come from the West Side up in the Thirties somewhere—but when Battery Dan looked over the Veronica consignment he smiled happily, for they were all his people.

Breakfast at an outing and games comes at, say, 12 o'clock noon. Dinner's at 6. Anybody knows what to do at those times, but it is only an expert who knows what to Anybody knows what to do at those times, but it is only an expert who knows what to do between. Yesterday they split up into groups. There were 103 poker games, with beer; half as many baseball games, with beer, and for those who did neither, there was beer. News item: The old blind chap who plays the homemade one string violin has learned the "Merry Widow Waltz" since last year.

One group got him in the centre and from 1 till 5:55 applauded his acquisition. Another group who could understand the words listened to the Miserere during those words listened to the Miserere during those hours from another artist. And a third group paid 10 cents for four shots at the revolving ducks to see who had the next dance with the girl with the red hair.

The feature of the afternoon was a baseball game between the M. G. G. A. and the Huron Club, which is Battery Dan's corporate title, for a silver cup. The Hurons didn't show up, so, as the cup had to be played for, the M. G. G. A. played itself and won, keeping the trophy. There was another cup, too, which Assemblyman Smith presented, on behalf, &c., to District Captain Timothy J. Gowan, but that was at dinner. Dinner was different from breakfast-lots different. It started to be different when the band played "Harrigan" and some body broke a spoon on his plate helping to accent the first and third beats. That made everybody else jealous, as it was the first thing reported broken. But he didn't have things his own way for long, and many soon equalled his record. Still only forks and spoons were broken and no plates had gone yet. But some-body hit on the happy expedient of turn-ing his knife around and using the handle.

In this way the plates and cups and saucers In this way the plates and cups and saucers broke quite easily.

It was about then that Assemblyman Smith made his presentation of the cup, saying in part, as far as could be heard:

"——pleasure——slight token——peerless standard bearer who——esteem of——."

At this point the speech was interrupted

In reply Mr. Gowan said:

"* * * thank—."

Throughout Mr. Gowan's speech great enthusiasm was shown. Umbrellas were presented to Mr. Guerin and Johnny Grote, president of the association, amid increas-ing demonstrations, which reached their climax when the waiters replaced the water pitchers with beer.

When the association returned to Tongers's a member, in excusing his organiza-tion for the lack of fights, explained that inasmuch as there were only some 350 on the outing and all of them had been brought up together it wasn't fair to expect it of them under the circumstances.

CONEY ISLAND'S BIGGEST DAY. 250,000 Persons Went Down and the Beaches Were Crowded.

A fine warm day brought out all the people the B. R. T. could carry to Coney Island yesterday, the returns up to 10 o'clock last night showing that 250,000 had gone down to the coast. The beaches were crowded and all the bathing pavilions did a big

Deputy Commissioner Baker of Brooklyn was on the job with the police most of the day. The tip went out early and no arrests were made for excise violation. Luna Park, Dreamland and Steeplechase Luna Park, Dreamland and Steeplechase Park reported that shey had done the biggest day's business of the year, exceeding Memorial Day.

There was a fire in a barber shop on Price's Walk, a man was run over by an automobile on Surf avenue and several children were lost and found.

Gov. Hanly Stricken by Heat,

OTTAWA, Kan., June 21 .- Frank Hanly, Governor of Indiana, was prostrated by heat while addressing the Ottawa Chautau-qua here yesterday afternoon. Gov. Hanly received medical attention and was assisted to his train. The Governor had almost finished his remarks when he was taken ill and forced to stop.

OBITUARY.

Ca pt. George N. Dick, a veteran of the civil war. died on Saturday at his home, 1518 Pacific street, Brooklyn. He was born in New York street. Brooklyn. He was born in New York on January 12, 1842, and at the outbreak of the civil war he enlisted in the Engineer Corps and was discharged in 1884 as a Captain of volunteers. He was a member of the wholesale florist firm of Jewell Bros., and for years held political office. He was superintendent of supplies in the Brooklyn city works department during Seth Low's administration and had been a deputy collector in the Internal Revenue Department since 1889. He was a hard worker for the Republican party in Brooklyn. He was senior vice-commander of McPherson-Doane Post No. 40, G. A. R.: a life member of the Invincible Club. Three sons and a daughter survive him. The interment will be in Greenwood Cemetery to-day.

Thomas Winfield Pattison, general mana-Thomas Winfield Pattison, general manager for the Eastman Kodak Company, died at the home of his son-in-law, Don R. Aimy, the Bordeaux apartments, 549 Riverside Drive, yesterday morning. Bright's disease was the cause of death. Mr. Pattison was born in Ripley, Ind., fifty-four years ago. His home in recent years has been in Rochester. Mary Pattison Almy is his only daughter. The body will be sent to Chicago for interment.

An Englishman who had undertaken to represent a London firm in New York gave "Thank you," said the stranger. "Now will you kindly tell me how to get down to your office?"

the card.

"There is a map of the immediate neighborhood," he said. "It shows how to reach my street from Broadway."

"Whew-ew-ew." whistled the stranger.

"Isn t that a new wrinkle?"

"It may be here," said the Londoner.

"but cards of that kind are by no means rare at home." "Well," the stranger admitted, "there are a few things us Americans can learn from you Britishers, after all."

"A couple of wild ducks in Central Park was a sight that startled me the other day. said a former Westerner, now a resident of this city, yesterday. "The soft whistle of wings overhead was a sound I had not heard since my boyhood duck shooting days in the Missouri River bottoms, and looking up I saw a pair of ducks flying just over the treetops. They looked like widgeon, and I presume were a couple of strays that had wandered far from the beaten paths of wild ducks and found a temporary haven on one of the park lakes. The last I saw of them they were circling over the Museum of Natural History."

"It is curious," remarked the grocer on the corper, "that there is no fruit in the world which people are such poor judges world which people are such poor judges of as cantaloupes, and what is more curious is that they do their best to spoil them after they buy them. The first thing a woman does with a cantaloupe is to stick it into the ice box. Now cantaloupes, like most of our fruit, are picked a trifle green, and when they come from the grocer's they should be put out in the sun for a whole day, turning them over every few hours, and then putting them into the ice box at night."

The Misses Natalie and Bessie Enos daughters of the late well remembered Henry K. Ence of the New York Stock Exchange, are now known in London as Enos Limited, in the matter of broideries, lingerie and trousseaux at 24 Mount street, Mayfair. These two young women have been wonderfully successful and have founded a large and prosperous business. Just at present they are fixing upon them-selves the attention of all fashionable Lon-don for the reason that the entire and distinctly emotional trousseau of Miss Jean Reid has been confided to them. Naturally enough this trousseau is of a decidedly exciting character, entirely in keeping with all the conditions and circumstances attaching to that young lady's approaching marriage to the Hon. John Hubert Ward.

"It beats all how news gets passed along here," observed a New York man who thinks nothing of buying an extra auto every now and then and an occasional boat or two. "One can't really make up one's mind to a thing before the literature and the samples and the solicitous agents are on hand. "Lately I applied for a license for a new automobile. Before I'd been informed what the number was a man was after the job of making it. About the same time my wife began her usual collection of sample tubes of face cream and tiny boxes of powder. Every time we buy a new machine she has enough of these things sent her to stock a beauty parlor. I draw literature on speedometers and tires and she gets printed advice on first aid to the complexion printed advice on first aid to the complexion while motoring.

"Recently I bought a very modest little motor boat. I didn't think it big enough to upset the business world very much. But I was mistaken. It all began again. I got literature about furnishings and equipment and my wife drew samples of steamer rugs and yachting caps. The funniest was a man who wanted to equip my little boat a man who wanted to equip my little boat with some sort of electrical arrangement. His argument was that the United States Pacific fleet had a similar equipment!"

The youngsters of Harlem evolved re cently a game that is enjoying great popularity among them. A coin is placed on a crack in the sidewalk and the two players stand opposite each other and at an equa distance from the crack, usually upon next one. A rubber ball is then aimed thrown at the coin and caught on the bounce by the opposing player. The coin or its equivalent becomes the possession of the player hitting it. It is a gambling game, of course, but that is probably what gives it the vogue it enjoys.

It is sometimes easier to do things back ward than it is to do them forward. A young Assistant District Attorney and a friend were having luncheon together the other day.

"Let's take one of these ready dishes. "Let's take one of these ready dishes," said the friend. "What do you see that you would like?"

"I won't teil you that," said his host.
"I'll tell you what I don't like. It's a much simpler basis on which to get together. If I told you what I liked you would probably say that you liked it too out of courtesy."

He ran over the list and rapidly eliminated everything but three or four dishes, one of which his friend felt at perfect liberty to choose.

choose.

"That's a great idea," said his friend.

"There have been times when I have sat at able reading the menu and sparring with the other fellow as to what we should have for ten or fifteen minutes."

"It was the man with chin whiskers who began it," said the Seeing New York lecturer. "'Where,' said he, 'did they use to have circuses in this town?' 'Same place they have 'em now,' said I; 'Madison Square Garden.' 'I mean,' said he, 'before Square Garden.' 'I mean,' said he, 'before there was a Madison Square Garden.' 'Never was such a time,' said I. 'There has been a Madison Square Garden ever since there was anything.' But he wouldn't swallow that. 'None o' your foolin',' said. he. 'I'm in earnest. There must have been a time when circuses were given in tents right here on Manhattan Island. Won't you kindly point out the sites as we pass by?'

pass by?'
"That request disturbed me. I tried to "That request disturbed me. I tried to forget it, but the man wouldn't let me forget. Every few minutes he kept asking, 'Have we come to any of those old circus places yet?' I didn't dare own up that I couldn't tell him. A man holding this job is supposed to know the history of New York from Peter Stuyvesant right down to Bill Devery, so I had to guess at it. I remembered having heard something about the site of the Fifth Avenue Hotel having been a circus ground once, so when about the site of the fifth Avenue Hotel having been a circus ground once, so when we came to that place I said: 'Where this famous hotel now stands circus tents were pitched three-quarters of a century ago.'
"Well, since that man started the circus question others have taken it up and every trip completely place out that everlasting. trip somebody pipes out that everlasting puzzle. I want an answer to it myself. I need it in my business. Where did the boys of seventy-five years ago play hookey and crawl under canvas tents to see the

Miss Newland to Wed Count Limburg

Stirum. DETROIT, June 21 .- Next Saturday evening Miss Mary Joy Newland of this city will be married at the residence of her sister, Mrs. Howard Mere lith, 560 Jefferson avenue, to Count Limburg Stirum, an officer of the German Imperial Guard.

Miss Newland is wealthy in her own right.

She has spent much time in travel abroad and is especially fond of Germany, where she met the Count last winter and where her MEXICO CTT, June 21.—A colony of Kickapoo Indians is being established in the State of Sonora. The first lot of 100 men and women arrived at the site from Oklahoma.

LETTERS DEMAND A RANSOM

FOR JEWELRY SALESMAN, MISS-ING WITH A BAG OF JEWELS.

Meyer Newman Dealt Chiefly With Ship Captains and Is Supposed to Have Gone Into Jersey on Tuesday Last, When He Disappeared—Black Hand Letters.

Meyer Newman picked up his gripful of lewelry, worth possibly $2,000, kissed his young wife, Annie, good-by, and left his little flat at 1555 Fulton avenue to meet a customer from St. Louis, who, he said, was going to buy $600 worth of jewelry. This was on Tuesday. Since then nothing has been heard of him or his diamonds.

Newman was salesman for his brother-inlaw, Louis Kappelman, a jewelry dealer of Baltimore. Both he and his wife, who was Miss Annie Freiburg, are also natives of Baltimore, though they have spent nearly all their five years of married life in this city, which is Newman's selling territory. Newman's work lay almost entirely among the scafaring folk. It is supposed therefore that when he last left his home on Tuesday he was bound for some vessel, especially since he had told his wife the day before that the customer with whom he had an appointment had been introduced to him by a sea captain. Newman is known to have been great friends with a skipper whose vessel docks at Bayonne, but this captain did not put in there last week until Wednesday. It is also known that Newman intended to stop at Perth Amboy before

Mrs. Newman communicated all these facts to the police when she reported her husband's absence, on Tuesday night. On Thursday the firm of Stern Bros. & Co. of 68 Nassau street, 33 Gold street and 138 West Fourteenth street, from whom Newman bought some of his diamonds, received in their early morning mail a letter which read somewhat as follows:

This is to notify you that Meyer Newman being held captive for a ransom of $10,000 Notify Mr. Kappelman and friends. You are to place the money in a tin can at the Bronx Park entrance before the 30th of June. BLACK HAND.

Then on Saturday there came another letter, containing explicit details as to the passing of the money. This time it was to be left in a tin can at the entrance of the zoo on June 29 or 30. The latter communication also centained a threat of death for Newman if the money wasn't forthcoming. The first letter bore the postmark of station L, at 150th street and Third avenue. The other came from the substation at 125th street.

Stern Brothers & Co. told Mrs. Newman of the letters which had been sent them and then turned them over to the police.

August Goldsmith of the firm of Stern Bros. & Co. said last night that Newman had been buying in comparatively small amounts of Stern Bros. & Co. for the last six months, but always in his brother-six months, but always in his brother-in-law's name. His reputation in the trade had always been very good and he could easily have got together four or five times the amount of jewelry he had with him.

"The last time he was in my place," said Mr. Goldsmith, "was on Monday, when he came in to get a ring worth $110. I think that the reason the Black Hand letters were directed to us was because the kidnappers found a bill for the ring in Newman's pocket.
He could hardly have been carrying around a bill from anybody else in any case, as practically all the goods he bought locally were obtained from us."

were obtained from us."

Kappelman came on from Baltimore on Thursday and stayed until yesterday morning. Mrs. Freiburg's sister Pearl also came on from Baltimore to nurse her sister, who is completely prostrated, and to look after the children. There are three of these, ranging in age from 4 years to 7 months. Newman's brother Abe, a jewelry salesman of Scranton, is also in the city. Kappelman is quoted as having said that Newman could have drawn on him for five or six times $2,000 any time he wanted to. six times $2,000 any time he wanted to. As a matter of fact most of the missing $2,000 in gems came from Kappelman's credits untouched. It was only when a consignment couldn't reach him quickly enough, a friend of the family said yesterenough, a friend of the family said yesterday, that Newman bought any goods on his brother-in-law's credit from local firms. Newman had a very good trade among the seafarers. His earnings averaged $55 a week, of which $25 was salary and $40 commission. This year, he told a friend, he expected his sales to average $1,000 a week. He used to tell his friends in a general way that he sold a lot of diamonds to ship captains. Detective Myles Kavanaugh of The Bronx, who is on the case, expects a relative of Newman to come on from Philadelphia to-day who is supposed to know Newman's line of oustomers pretty thoroughly.

TIMOTHY HEALEY CLEARED. C. F. U.'s Graft Inves igators Decide That

He Should Be Exonerated. The "graft" committee appointed by the Central Federated Union last February to investigate a statement credited to Timothy Healey of the Eccentric Firemen's Union that $9,000 had been paid to five delegates of the C. F. U. for running a meeting in the Murray Hill! Lyceum two years ago to protest against the granting of certain franchises, continued its report yesterday. The committee last week examined a number of witnesses in reference to the Murray Hill meeting itself, which was called apparently under the auspices of the

C. F. U. but was repudiated by that body. The committee recommended that the case against Healey, who was the real de-case against healey, who was the real defendant, be dismissed on the ground that the statements of the witnesses were too contradictory to enable the committee to come to a definite conclusion. After a good deal of discussion the report of the committee was adopted.

Then the committee went on to report its investigation of the meeting itself. The evidence covered a wide ground, many members of the C. F. U., including one of its officers, being named. It appeared that on the Sunday before this meeting it had been decided to hold a mass meeting to protest against granting the franchises. The meeting, however, took an unexpected turn and according to some of the witnesses was actually in the interest of the traction trust.

Extracts were read from the testimony

Extracts were read from the testimony given at the Interborough investigation by the Public Service Commission in which by the Public Service Commission in which Lemuel Ely Quigg admitted paying for this meeting.

Statement after statement was read telling of mysterious conferences ending in the meeting at the Murray Hill Lyceum. By this time some of the delegates grew tired and irritable. They wanted to know how long they were to be kept waiting. They were told that it would take five hours more to read the rest of the testimony and more to read the rest of the testimony a the matter was deferred until next week.

NOT ART FOR ART'S SAKE.

Priest Accuses Self-Styled Artist of Getting Cash Without Delivering the Goods. Harry Raphaelson, who said he was an artist, was arrested yesterday afternoon at his home, 14 East 106th street, by Detective Egan of the Headquarters squad on a warrant secured by Father Hugh Logue of York, Pa.

According to Father Logue the man

According to Father Logue the man came to him in York last April and agreed to enlarge a photograph and send six more to the priest for $44. He got the money in advance and Father Logue heard no more of him.

According to the police Raphaelson has been working the same game all over the Southern States, the clergy and Sisters of Charity being his victims for the most of Charity being his victims for the most part. As a rule they seldom prosecute. Raphaelson will be held for extradition to Pennsylvania.

Saks & Company

Broadway at 34th Street

ANNOUNCE, BEGINNING THIS MORNING,

An Important—and very timely Sale of Trunks, Bags & Cases At 1-3 Below Regular Prices

This opportunity to purchase a reliable trunk or bag so much below its worth is decidedly unusual

Trunks Worth 18.00 to 195.00 At 12.00 to 130.00

These trunks of superfine construction have served as display models in the trunk department. Their use for this purpose has marred them but little - and impaired their value not at all.

But one of each design is offered. The coverings include genuine walrus, Scotch pigskin, pegamoid, rawhide, duck, etc.
Linings of silk, leather, fancy kerotol, or linen.

Bags & Cases Worth 28.50 to 145.00 At 10.00 to 06.67

A limited quantity of very fine Traveling Bags and Suit Cases—some equipped with toilet requisites.

Of finest imported or domestic manufacture; these goods are a trifle discolored from exposure in our show-windowsotherwise perfect. But the slight blemish referred to becomes insignificant in view of the remarkable price concession.

The NORTH SHORE OF NEW ENGLAND

For little ones and grown-ups the playground of perfect pleasure. Delight on all sides, no matter what form you prefer.

PRESIDENT IN SUNDAY DUCK

THE USUAL OYSTER BAY CROWD SEES HIM GO TO CHURCH.

Taft's Successor as War Secretary Probably Will Go With Him to Sagamore Hill on Thursday-Incidents of a Mighty

Warm Day at the Summer Capital. nce said after a trip to Sagamore Hill that Oyster Bay was hotter than the Philippines, and to-day the mercury joined in the rush to back up the Administration candidate and climbed to the top of the glass. It was truly tropical weather. and President Roosevelt when he went to church wore white ducks and a Panama In Washington the President attends the Dutch Reformed Church, but there is no congregation of that denomination here, and during his vacation Mr. Roosevelt and his family are regular attendants at the pretty little Christ Episcopal Church, where the Rev. Dr. Henry Homer Washburn preaches. The sermon this morning was on confirmation. There was the usual gathering of village folk and summer visitors about the doors of the church when the President drove up. Seeing the President go to church is part of Oyster Bay's regular summer programme, and many of the older people never miss a Sunday.

The President and Mrs. Roosevelt drove down alone this morning and stopped at the church door for a few moments to greet a few friends before going into the church. At the close of the service it is the custom for the congregation to remain seated until the President has passed out, but this morning. as usual, there was another gathering of worshippers waiting outside on the steps, who kept the President lifting his hat as he drove away.

Secretary Taft probably will come to Oyster Bay next Thursday after attending commencement at Yale. Secretary Loch had no other visitors to announce, but it is likely that Gen. Wright, Mr. Taft's successor, will accompany him on his visit to Sagamore Hill. To-morrow the clerks at the executive office will finish clearing out the rubbish and all will be ready for the summer's work.

The Sylph, the President's yacht, is already at her moorings of the J. West Roosevelt wharf, just below Sagamore Hill, and it looks as though, for the present at least, the President will have on hand no more serious work than boating excursions along the Sound and overnight camping trips with his athletic crew of boys COURT ENDS HOSPITAL ROMANCE. Rich Woman Who Became a Nurse and Married a Doctor Gets a Divorce. Boston, June 21.-A romance which had its inception when Gladys H. Appleton, a society girl and heiress, became a purse at the City Hospital and fell in love with a young physician, Dr. Dunlap Pearce Penhallow has come to Crimax in the divorce

The bride of three years, who is travelling in Europe, has got a decree on the ground of cruel and abusive treatment. In her complaint Mrs. Penhallow declared that her husband ill treated her when she refused to give him money from her fortune. Many quarrels were described which marred the peace of the home during their short inter-val of married life. Mrs. Penballow was a daughter of the late William S. Appleton, whose brother, Capt. Nathan Appleton, the eccentric clubman and traveller, created a sensation by divorcing his wife.

Mrs. Penhallow as Miss Appleton took great interest in charity and entered the City Hospital to become a nurse. KILLED IN ROW OVER A GAME.

Mount Vernon Man Cracks Three Skulls With a Ball Bat-Escapes. YONKERS, June 21 .- One dead, one dying and one with badly cut scalp was the result of an argument over an Italian game of bowes this evening at Chiangone's hotel, Central and Midland avenues, this city, John Castilain of Mount Vernon seized a baseball bat and with one swing amashed in the skull of Raffaele Carragene, killing him instantly. His payt swing cought. in the skull of Ranaele Carragene, killing him instantly. His next swing caught a man named Ambrosia, and at St. Joseph's Hospital the surgeons had to take twenty-five stitches in his head. Mrs. Rosie Chiangone tried to stop the fight, but she was also struck on the head and it took fifteen stitches to clear the wound. stitches to close the wound.

By this time the crowd had withdrawn.

By this time the crowd had withdrawn.

leaving Castilain in full possession. He threw away the club and disappeared in the surrounding woods. The police of the second precinct, detective headquarters and Coroner Weisendanger are after him.

You Can Split a Split of The Vintage Water' Two drinks instead of one. Pints Quarts CLYSMIC SPRING CO., Waukesha. 251 Fifth Avenue, New York.